

ROOM SET-UP

Fill the room with instruments and tools that you might use to seek something. For example, a telescope would be used to seek stars, planets, and constellations. A metal detector would be used to find metal objects buried in the ground. Binoculars would be used to seek an object in the near distance. A microscope is used to seek bacteria, viruses, and cancerous cells in a biopsy sample. A submarine might use a periscope to seek things above the surface of the water. If you can't find the real object, you can use pictures of them.
